NEW BUILDING

In dry bulk this week, it was reported that Dalian COSCO KHI (DACKs) took orders for four firm 82k dwt Kamsarmaxes from CMB Leasing, with deliveries expected to run throughout 2024. Hyundai Vinashin announced taking orders for four firm 63k dwt Ultramaxes from Clients of Thenamaris, with deliveries set to run through 2H 2024, with the final vessel delivering in 1Q 2025. New Dayang announced contracting four firm 63k dwt Ultramaxes from CMB Leasing, with deliveries expected in 2024.

In the gas carrier market, Daewoo (DSME) announced contracting four firm 174k CBM LNG Carriers for a H-Line, Pan Ocean and SK Shipping joint venture, with deliveries expected in 4Q 2024 and 1Q 2025. DSME also revealed that Clients of Maran Gas Maritime had extended their series by ordering a further two firm 174k CBM LNG Carriers, with deliveries slated for 1H 2026. It brings their series to eight at the yard. Hyundai HI disclosed orders for two firm 174k CBM LNG Carriers from an Unknown European owner, reported to be Knutsen, with deliveries slated for 1H 2025.

In containers, Imabari Shipbuilding announced contracting four LNG dual-fuel 23,000TEU Containerships for three separate owners, with Doun Kisen ordering two vessels, Nissen Kaiun ordering one vessel and Shoei Kisen Kaisha ordering one vessel. The vessels are all expected to deliver within 2025. CMA CGM announced ordering six firm 7,900TEU Containerships at Hyundai Samho. The vessels will be equipped with LNG dual-fuel propulsion and are slated for delivery in 2H 2025. It was reported that Ningbo Ocean Shipping contracted four firm 710TEU Coastal trading container vessels at Taizhou Wuzhou, with deliveries expected in 2024.

RECYCLING

Sunny climes!

As all and sundry connected with the shipping industry descended on Greece for Posidonia, it was obvious that many are reaping the benefits of the incredible markets with food and wine in abundance at the various organised parties and functions. However, the main topic for those huddled in corners from the recycling industry was which direction the next movement in rates will go.

Many of the cash buyers and recyclers in attendance remain cautious for the time being, a decision perhaps being helped by the continuing lack of tonnage being made available. The currency volatility and fluctuating commodity markets are not providing any comfort for the time being, but if the scarcity of new tonnage continues for the early summer months, then the consensus is that price levels will have to rebound. Patience may be the crucial word!

Next week sees members from the recycling industry descend on Rotterdam for a conference which will, most likely, see no positive change from the European Union authorities in relation to ship recycling in the Indian sub. Continent. Let us hope that we are pleasantly surprised.
